EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Aaron Waxler on February 3, 2005.

The application has been amended as follows:

Claim 4 (currently amended). A method according to claim 2, wherein a correlation output is provided as a function of a sum of correlation values returned for a series of individual, continuous correlations.

Claim 17 (currently amended). A method according to claim 16, wherein the data message information relating to the timing of an epoch of at least one data bit of the target signal is derived from the timing of an epoch of at least one data bit of a reference signal.

Claim 19 (currently amended). A method according to claim 16, wherein a dwell time for each code check made whilst attempting to acquire the target signal is greater than that previously used to acquire a reference signal.

Claim 20 (currently amended) A method according to claim 16, wherein the data message information further comprises data bit information relating to at least part of the data message of the target signal which is derived from corresponding data bit information of a reference signal.

Claim 32 (currently amended). A mobile unit according to claim 31, wherein a correlation output is provided as a function of a sum of correlation values returned for a series of individual, continuous correlations.

Claim 37 (currently amended). A mobile unit according to claim 36, wherein the data message information relating to the timing of an epoch of at least one data bit of the target signal is derived from the timing of an epoch of at least one data bit of a reference signal.

Claim 39 (currently amended). A mobile unit according to claim 36, wherein a dwell time for each code check made whilst attempting to acquire the target signal is greater than that previously used to acquire a reference signal.

Claim 40 (currently amended) A mobile unit according to claim 36, wherein the data message information further comprises data bit information relating to at least part of the data message of the target signal which is derived from corresponding data bit information of a reference signal.

EXAMINER'S STATEMENTS OF REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

2. Claims 1-5, 7-27, 30-33, 35-41, 44-47, 49, and 51, which have been renumbered claims 1-43, respectively, are allowable over prior art because related references do not disclose providing data message information from the base station to a receiver including the timing of an epoch, wherein the data message is used to minimize degradation of a correlation of an input signal and PRN code, wherein the degradation is caused by variations in the PRN code attributable to modulation by the data message. Prior art references normally minimize the degradation at the receiver by the use of some type of error correction. However, by supplying the data message, there is no need for this error correction to be performed at the receiver.
